Welcome...

We are delighted to announce ESREL2023, the 33rd European Safety and Reliability Conference under the auspices of the European Safety and Reliability Association (ESRA). The conference will be held at the University of Southampton, on 3-8 September 2023.

ESREL is the annual event in the area of reliability analysis, risk assessment, risk management and optimisation of the safety performance of socio-technological systems. It is not only an event of scientific excellence but also an occasion for the community of safety and reliability specialist to meet in the spirit of conviviality in the broadest sense.

This year the conference will have a special focus on ‘The Future of Safety in a Reconnected World’.

This reflects the need to identify how risk, reliability and safety methodologies can help society address the new challenges of the post-Covid era and as new technologies emerge. The conference will present technical and scientific papers covering methods and application in the fields of risk, safety and reliability.

The venue of the conference is in the city of Southampton, a city at the centre of global connectivity, with its rich maritime history. Both the Mayflower and, centuries later, the Titanic left the Southampton dock towards very different fates, with the former signifying the irrepressible spirit of hope and the latter signifying hubris and disaster. Both of these voyages offer lessons on the interplay of human and technological factors, both in optimising safety and reliability and in determining what risks should be considered in the first place.

We look forward to welcoming you to Southampton to discuss the latest developments in safety and reliability in a rapidly reconnecting world.
